SAGE National update- Moving from an affiliate model to a collaborative model. For many years, SAGE of the Rockies has been an affiliate member of the national organization SAGE, an organization based in New York City and dedicated to serving LGBTQ elders. In the winter of 2022 SAGE National revealed its strategic plan. This new plan changes the affiliate relationships from a centralized model to a collaboration model. This new model ceases the participation requirements placed on organizations and allows for programs outside the national organization to have the freedom to expand, create, and be the programs they choose to be. The tradeoff means affiliates are no longer able to use the SAGE name. To gather community feedback we hosted four Name Change forums and published an online and paper survey. Once completed we then hosted a two week voting process to select a new name. Join us June 2nd to learn what was selected.

Unbreakable- The Untold Story of our Community-The Denver Gay Men's Chorus kicks off Pride month and marks its final 40th anniversary concert with Unbreakable, the Colorado Premiere of the new musical from renowned Broadway composer Andrew Lippa. The stunning choral work takes audiences through a chronological musical journey of the gay experience in America, from 1900 through today.

Through a repertoire and various musical styles from Broadway to Pop to Classical, Unbreakable presents stories on how our community evolved, triumphed, suffered, and soared. From Harvard's "Secret Court" of 1920, the life of transgender activist Sylvia Rivera, The Lavender Scare of the 1950's, Gertrude Stein, civil rights activist Bayard Rustin, and Nobel Peace Prize winner Jane Addams, Unbreakable is a perfect reflection as we celebrate Pride.

James Knapp, Artistic and Managing Director will present a talk about this new work, the commissioning process and the different chronological movements. He will also talk about highlights of the historic forty years of the Denver Gay Men's Chorus. June 10th-11th at Denver's King Center. Visit dgmcc.org for more info and tickets. Date: Wednesday June 1st, from 12 -1p. Lunch Provided RSVP to Jason or Bryant by 05/31/22.

Choir Boy Recap—An emotional tale of homophobia and self-awakening. As a gay man, I was able to relate to many of the points of this story. This was a much-needed relief as I was unsure as to what I had gotten myself into with the religious aspects of the show. But, as a guy who has distanced himself from religion, I was not turned off by those connections. I found the music to be entertaining and varying in speeds and volumes. The story was full of passion, rage, and individuality. Thank you for all you joining us for a wonderful evening and to the DCPA for the awesome tickets. - Jason

Berlin to Denver—Join acclaimed LGBTQ author, filmmaker, playwright, and curator Gregory Hinton for a lecture and performance, which examines the long, close friendship between the great American Modernist painter, poet, and essayist Marsden Hartley (1877-1943) and Arnold Rönnebeck (1885-1947), ex pat German sculptor, lecturer, and director of the Denver Art Museum (1926-1930).

American Modernist painter, poet, and essayist Marsden Hartley (1877-1943) visited Germany multiple times, in 1913, 1914, 1927, 1933, presaging the the military buildup for both WW1 and WW2.

Hartley's comfort and social ease was the friendship of amiable German sculptor Arnold Rönnebeck, who Hartley first met in Paris at Restaurant Thomas, an artist hangout. It was in Paris that Hartley also met Rönnebeck's cousin, a handsome German officer named Karl von Freyburg, the eventual inspiration of Hartley's most beloved series of paintings.

Hartley and Rönnebeck became Saturday evening regulars at the salon of Gertrude Stein. Hartley froze when asked what kind of pictures he painted; prompting Stein to visit his studio to see for herself. She suggested he hang a few among her Matisses and Picassos so he might see for himself how they held their own. On his first trip to Berlin, hosted by Rönnebeck's family, Hartley wrote: "Berlin was tense with vitality and a most human quality...A week in Berlin made me feel that one had come home..."

This presentation intends to underscore that along with Alfred Stieglitz, Gertrude Stein and Mabel Dodge Luhan, Arnold Rönnebeck was a significant change agent in Hartley's life. Rönnebeck's bust, "Marsden Hartley, 1923" is located in the Hudson Walker Collection at the Frederick Weismann Museum in Minneapolis, Minnesota. There are five in total around the country. Without Rönnebeck, Portrait of a German Officer would not exist. The Denver Art Museum's intimate collection of Hartley paintings and drawings offers a wonderful opportunity to share a little-known Denver LGBTQ hidden history about a friendship between a deeply shy gay artist and a generous ally.

A Colorado son, Gregory Hinton is the creator of Out West, a national museum program series offering lectures, plays, and gallery exhibitions dedicated to shining a light on the history and culture of the LGBTQ community in the American West since 2009. Date: Tuesday, June 14th 6 pm—7 pm. Location: Denver Art Museum: Sharp Auditorium—Hamilton Building Lower Level. Contact Jason or Bryant to get tickets. Space is limited

Meditation and Visualization with Bryant will continue!

Meditation is the act of centering the mind towards relaxation, inner awareness, and mental and physical change.

Bryant will continue to host his group on Monday mornings from 10:30-11:30. Through this series Bryant will be leading sessions based on Progressive Muscular Relaxation, guided visualizations, and introduction to meditation. If you are attending in-person all you will need to bring with you is a pillow or something comfortable to rest your head on. If you are attending from home you need a place to rest that is free from distractions. Date: Monday, 10:30am— 11:30am.

Bring your favorite pillow! This will be a hybrid group, please register for the group at <https://us06web.zoom.us/j/84528112345>

The resurrection of Cow Poke Avi- Recently the Community Group hosted its monthly game day hosted by Cow Poke Avi.

"I was born at a very young age... in Casper, WY, on May 2nd, 1958. I moved to Denver with my family when I was 12 years old. I have always been more like a boy than a girl in my brain. If we're coming up these days and had enlightened parents, I would have transitioned to a boy. I have managed to maneuver in this world as a boyish-woman-not to be butch, walking a tight rope. I did drag 40 years ago, I made a 3-piece suit, slicked my hair back, and haven't done it since. Recently, I decided to give it a go again. I got some boots on sale, some nice western shirts different for me, but good, and Cow Poke came together. What is funny is that I never really cared for cowboys. I was more of a wannabe hippy. My late wife, Paula was a hillbilly from Virginia. I've recently embraced my hillbilly-ness, from Wyoming."

Thus,
Cow Poke Avi at your Service

Cow Poke Avi has joined the lineup of awesome community members engaging in the AARP Community Group.

Jason responds to your feedback-The recent SAGE name change survey provided the space for participants to give us their comments, questions, or concerns. I wanted to take some time to respond to some of your needs.

- "I would like to see the regular silver sneaker yoga back. -This request came up a lot. In place of yoga, I implemented a movement class." These sessions focus on Qigong, Tai Chi, modern and contemporary dance movements, along with some classical ballet techniques. Though, it's not yoga... Christina implements many of the same concepts. We have received positive feedback on her work. Additionally, participants are seeing improvement in their range of motion and stamina. –Jason
- "Great programming and support!" Thank you! We enjoy working for you and strive to implement creative and energizing programming. – Jason
- "Obviously, I'm Gay and a senior or this group wouldn't be of interest. Having said that, I'm still just Coming Out and would like to discuss that with members of the group. However, in the few sessions, I've attended this topic has never come up (pardon the pun)." We do have a coming-out group that meets monthly. I also encourage you to bring it up... You never know someone may want to talk about that as well. – Jason
- "Keep a lesbian presence in it." - I am trying so hard! I welcome all ideas. You never know what I might do next. –Jason
- "Yes, enjoy the engagement and being involved." -That is what is about! I value you and your time. I want to offer great events and activities that you will want to be a part of. –Jason
- "Changing our name adversely weakens our organization on a national level even if it's been ordered by the head office." - It will take time for people to accept change. That is okay and your feelings are relevant. When learning about this opportunity, I decided it would be an awesome opportunity to continue re-energizing the program. This opportunity allows us to engage the community and to have a constructive conversation about what we want our older adult program to look like in the years to come. We will maintain the same feel... but look different. -Jason

Artwork from the Center on Colfax's Open Art Studio
Opening June 24th at the Denver Art Museum.

The Center on Colfax opened in 1976 and has grown to become the largest LGBTQ community center in the Rocky Mountain region, providing a voice to Colorado's lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer community. Over the years the organization has played a pivotal role in statewide initiatives to reduce harassment and discrimination.

Today, the organization focuses on ensuring that every member of the LGBTQ community has access to the programs and resources they need to live happy, healthy, and productive lives. The Center hosts several programs and events that focus on supporting youth, transgender and non-binary individuals, and our aging community members.

The Center's Older Adult program (formerly SAGE of the Rockies) focuses on assisting individuals 50 years and better with services and activities that encourage social, financial, intellectual, environmental, physical, emotional, vocational, and spiritual wellness. The Open Art Studio began in 2010 and has served many participants over the years. Many of these individuals' art pieces can still be seen on the walls of The Center.

In 2020, the program partnered with the Denver Art Museum's Art in Hand Program. DAM provides take-home art boxes to community participants. These thoughtfully designed kits encouraged participants to create, learn, and connect. The Art Boxes were a hit! The Museum sent two of its staff members to The Center to learn more.

Molly and Sara from the Lifelong Learning and Accessibility program, met with The Center's talented artists who happen to be prepping for their winter art show. Molly and Sara shared their experience with Lindsey and Danielle also from the Lifelong learning and Accessibility department. The pair later attended The Center's Holiday Art show; resulting in an invitation to participate in the Community Spotlight Exhibition Project. The community members have also attended the DAMs Community Cafe's sessions; a program that provides individuals with a two-day art class hosted at the art museum. The community members instantly took to the DAM team and have come to value their friendship and the program. The Center's Open Art Studio is thankful for the friendship and partnership. We could not be more honored and grateful for this opportunity.

-- Thank you! -Jason

To attend a free viewing of the exhibit and to meet the artists. Please RSVP to Jason or Bryant. Date: June 30th 10:00am— whenever you choose to leave. Location: Denver Art Museum: 100 W 14th Ave Pkwy, Denver, CO 80204
